Judge F. E. Swink shipped a car load of cattle to the St. Louis market the first of the week, and the cattle were sold on Tuesday. It was not at the National stock yards, as East St. Louis. There were thirty head in the car load and they netted Judge Swink the splendid sum of $1,785. This shipment was a good one and is but another demonstration of the great advantage one has in producing the best possible grade of stock. This sale was the "high water mark" for St. Francis county in the sale of beef cattle.

The residence of Philip Weinholt of near Hannu was destroyed by fire, with particularly all of its contents, on Sunday, March 18, at about ten o'clock a. m. Mr. Weinholt had a large family of children, and Mrs. Weinholt and the four youngest children were at home. After the fire was discovered and help arrived, the entire building was so badly enveloped in flames and fanned by the strong gale, that but a few articles of household goods were and could be saved. The loss is estimated at $3000, with no insurance either on the building or contents.

The Tenth Biennial Report of the State Board of Charities and Corrections of Missouri gives the following report on the management of the Danville county poor farm: "This is the worst situation found in Missouri. Disease, filth and dirt and little supervision or proper care of inmates. Five deaths at the institution in seven months; four of tuberculosis. A woman nearly dead with tuberculosis lay on a porch expectorating at intervals into an old pan which was swarming with flies. Only a few yards away the door opened into a kitchen in which a man, barefooted and nearly blind, was chief cook. The cook claimed that he had erysipelas which had settled in his eyes and at times he could not see. When he could see, however, he did the cooking. With such impaired vision on the part of the cook, one might easily guess the sanitary condition of the kitchen. It was rather significant that with such gross neglect of the county charges that on the county farm there was one of the best fields of cotton in that section."

Last Sunday evening about 5 o'clock an automobile full of high rollers, rushed up Columbia street from the east, made a reckless turn at the Morris corner and on to Liberty street. Marshal Schaefer, who was standing on the south front lawn of the courthouse saw them coming, and waved them to stop, but they paid no more attention to him than if there was no star blazing on the lapel of his coat. Jake ran across the yard and headed them off, and standing on the courthouse square, again warned them to stop, but the driver only pulled out the clutch for more speed. Schaefer then drew his gun and let go at the tires. He bored a front and hind tire, but missed the other hind one. The two punctured tires collapsed, but the machine whirled along on the rims until it was outside the corporation. The party of high rollers stopped near the Merriam school house to repair damages, and left several empty beer bottles as evidence of their tanked-up condition. Jake says they were from Desloge, but he was not able to identify them, and they had evidently been to Weingarten, in Ste. Genevieve county, for a general "old high."

They don't watch out. They have killed about all the chickens out in that direction they have slaughtered a goodly number of dogs and are now apparently determined to clean up on the people. Citizens take their lives in their hands when they attempt to cross the street. Most of the speeding is done between the city limits and the bridges, where they are comparatively safe from the marshal. If the citizens over there will get stingers and practice on rear tires of speeding machines, we are of the opinion that they would come down to at least 40 or 50 miles an hour.

planning to God and meet those scheduled for Friday and Saturday, May 4 and 5. Mr. Douglas is manager and he informs us that the many inquiries for particulars that are being received indicate the greatest meet yet.

There will be on hand three hundred contestants in the field and track events besides the contestants in essay, declamation and debate. Invitations have been sent to every high school in the district and they are accepting with the usual alacrity.

Cough Courteux will be the official field referee and Mr. Vaughan will have charge of the contests in the auditorium. Professors Dunn and Moore are assistant business managers. We are also informed that the Student Activity tickets will not admit students to the events and they must pay. This is necessary in order to meet the expense of the Meet and it is legitimate, as the Meet does not come as one of the student activities.

We are ready to have as our guests the high school students of southeast Missouri—Capaha, Arrow.

Are Entitled to That Recognition

We should not forget that for every German spy and marplot in this country there are many thousands of loyal, true Americans of German blood or descent. They have no part in or sympathy with these plots. They are as good Americans as any of us and are entitled to be so recognized.—Henry County Democrat.
